

WATER POLO PROVES EXCITING PASTIME

coaches were well pleased with the show-

Water polo is played with a ball that resembles a volley ball, but is only partially inflated. The two teams line up on opposite sides and at the referee's signal swim for the ball, which is in the center of the pool. At both sides of the tank are goals, measuring four feet by one foot. A goal is scored when a member of the opposite side touches the board with the ball.

At the start of the game both teams played vigorously and the first half was hotly contested, with neither team scoring a goal. Several times the players threw the ball out of the pool, and in this case the ball is given to the opposition, at the place where it is thrown out. One player of the All-Stars threw the ball at the goal and succeeded in hitting it, but no goal is scored unless the board is touched with the ball held in a player's hand.

The most difficult part of the race was the untangling of the bathing suits. Frank Hurd had put on all of the feminine attire and had reached the center of the pool before his marrest opponent dove into the water. The first water polo game ever played in Salt Lake City by local teams took place at the Sanitarium last night before a large crowd. The All-Stars and the Sanitarium teams were the conteatants. The All-Stars made a brilliant showing in the second half and won with three goals to their opponents' none.

The gyme proved to be very interesting, and although some of the players have not had experience, both teams played exceedingly well for the first time. The coaches were well pleased with the show-ite.

TO PLAY BASKETBALL DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Coach Henry Richardson and Manager Harry Kilpatrick of the Salt Lake high school basketball quintette are arranging practice games for their team during the Christmas vacation. It is planned to play some of the Commercial league teams. Al of the games will be played in the evening, either in the high school symnasium or at the Y. M. C. A.

Manager Kilpatrick received an offer from the Boulder university five, the team that played the University of Utah five last spring for the conference titls. The Colorado five wanted to meet the west siders some time this month. Coach Richardson decided that the game would not draw a crowd that would pay expenses and declined the offer.

rames with other schools will be played by the Aggles before January 17, much activity in the way of interclass contests s noticeable. Of the games for class nampionship played thus far at the Agricultural college, the sophomores have won four, the freshmen three, the seniors bree and the juniors three. The class that wins the greater number of games in the series will be adjudged champlon. The series began December 5 and will end January 19, and includes thirty games. The rules governing the game are: They will start promptly at the time scheduled and in case all the players of a team are not present, the team must start play with those present or forfeit the game. The game will consist of twelve-minute halves with a six-minute intermission. All "A" basketball men—those that liave been on a first team—are prohibited from playing in this series.

A daily record is kept of all players and from the best players will be chosen the main team for next year. A player is judged not wholly by the number of baskets he makes, but by his general usefulness to his team.

As there are six of these teams, it will be seen that there are, including the extra, about sixty young men engaged. Addit to these the members of the regular team, together with independent aggregations of students who come into the gymnasium to play basketball, wrestle, jump, climb the rope, play hand-ball, run on the track, swim or take part in other gymnastic exercises, and there is an aggregate, says Coach Teetzel, of from 150 to 300 men students who get in the series will be adjudged champlon

RAILWAY FOR ALASKA DEBATED IN HOUSE

Democrats in Charge of the Measure Expect a Vote With But Little Delay.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Spirited debate in the house marked today the beginning of consideration of the bill for a government-owned railway in Alaska. Advocates of the measure described at length the project to build 733 miles of railroad from the southern coast of Alaska to the rich coal fields in the interior, while its opponents argued that the cost would be much greater than the territories committee had estimated and that the "game was not worth the candle."
